Jesus Christ K 4201.g.154

¶ A proclamacyon of the hygh emperour Jesu Christe, vnto all his faithfull Christen.

¶ Concerninge the castell of fayth which now by the grace of God is lyke to be wonne into the Christen mens handes againe.

WH. p. 747.

The argument.

In this proclamacion is shortly declared ye cause wherfore that christen men haue erred so sore, and loste the castell of faythe, and how they maye come by it againe. After that, here is set forth a christen batell (agaynst the deuyll and his courte of perdicion) maruelous comfortable & pleasaunt to reade.

BRITISH MUSEUM

Jesu Christe sonne of the liuinge God borne out of the re= gal kyndred of Da uyd, kyng of glory Sauyoure of the whole worlde pacyfier of goddes wrath, mediator betwene God and man, the beater of synnes and the true lambe of God that taketh awaye the synne of the worlde: wyche [redacted] vnto all my be= louyd fayth= full Chri= sten, my grace peace, and mercy. So be it.

Wat.xv. Joh.xi. Luke,i.

Psal.xxviii i.Ti.ii.

Colos.i. i.Ti.ii.

Act.iiii. i pet.ii.

Johan.i.

Printed before by Rob. Redman. W. p. 39.

A proclamation

TRVSTY and welbeloued ye remember that vpon M.cccc. & xlvii. yeres ago, thorow verye fauoure and loue of my father, I came (for your helth and saluacion) into this myserable sorowfull worlde, takyng vpon me the shape of a seruaunt and became obedyent vnto ỹ death, euē the death of the crosse: that thorow the sheddyng of my bloud, I might take awaye your synnes, reconcile you vnto god my father, make you acceptable vnto hym, and vtterlye ouercome your enemies, death, hell and the deuyll, And that thorowe my resurrection also, I myght tustify you, & make you heyres with me in the kyngdome of my heuenly father. Ye know also (doutlesse) what great labour and trauaile I had in pur-

Phil. ii.
Io an. xvi.
Phat. ii.
Rom. iii. Ephe. i
Eph. v.
Rom. iiii. Rom. 8.

in purchasynge you vnto my selfe to be the people of mine inheritaūce 1.pet.ii. and to mary you for euermore. I payde for it (as ye know) nether syl uer, gold, precious stone nor other 1.pet.ii. temporall goodes. It coste me not many thowsandes of harneste men, stronge horse, mighty cites or king domes: to deliuer you out of the po Colos.i. wer of your enemye the deuell, and to bringe you vnder my banner.
But I paied a derer thing therfore 1.pet.i.
Euen myne innocente bloude, tho= rowe whiche I haue made an euer= lastinge testament with you neuer Hebr.x. to fayle. ye remembre also howe ye haue bound your selues againe vn to me with ỹ othe and vow of your baptyme, where in ye swore and pro mysed to be true and faithful vnto me your soueraigne lord. But now I se that ye haue forgotte your pro mise, broken your vowe, and sette my commaundemente at naughte. I am also informed, that thorawe the lyght regardynge of my precep tes, ye haue lost the wyghtyest and strõgest castel, which I with great charge had committed vnto you, whiche is the faith and truste into my word, that is to say, my holy gos pel, with the whiche castell I kepte the whole land of my christen chur che makinge it sure and inuincyble for any aduersaries. Moreouer, what tyme as I walked here amon geste you vpon earthe I tolde you that there shuld so great sege be lay ed agaynst this castel, that whan ỹ Mat. xi sonne of man came he shulde scarce fynde any faith in the earth. That there shuld come false prophetes do Mat. xxiiii. ing so great miracles & wonders, ỹ Marc. xiii. if it were possible ỹ very electi shuld be deceiued. I knew also before (for I se all thinges afore hande) with what what falshede, crafte and deceite, he shulde laye his ordinaunce, and sege against this castell. And therfore I charged you to take heede, to watche and to pray continually, that ye myght optaine grace to fly these parels. I lefte also behind me my officers, which after my corporal presence might both by mouth & by writinge warne you in all thinges for to come. Besydes this I set you my spirite, whome I had promised afore, to lede you in al truth, to encourage youre hartes, and to make you stronge, to kepe your castel from all enemyes. Not onelye this but I descrybed your enemies plainely before your eyes, and told you what maner of felowes they shulde be, that wolde defraude you frō the right of this Castel and debarre you of ỹ priuileges belōging therto. Namely rauenig wolues, a Luk. xxii.

Act. ii. Joh. xvi. Act. i.

Math. vii

rayed outwardlye in shepes clothinge, that is to saye: spirituall, deuoute and ful of merites: Pharises Ypocrytes, scrybes, heretikes, Popes, Cardinals, Bysshoppes, Archedeacons, Deanes, Officials, Commyssaries, Canons, Prebandaries, Abbates Prouyncyales, Pryours Monkes, Preestes, Freres, Nonnes, and Somners, with such lyke deceiuers, as cõcernig whõ though my faithfull Prophetes, Heiremye & Ezechiel with other mo preached sufficiently vnto you before: yet did not I spare, but set thẽ before youre eyes, and tolde you of them, & poynted youvnto them with my fingers to the intente that ye shulde knowe them. As my true Euangelyst Mathewe in hys vii. xv, and. xxiii. Chapters hath lefte behinde him in wrytynge. Lyke as Paule my chosen vessell also hathe done in diuerse Hoie. xiii.

Ezechiel. xxxiii.
Mathew. xxiii.
Mar. i. c.
mat. xvi.
Math. xii.

1. Timo. iiii
Rom. ix.

places

places of his epistels, which spared no labour to warne you of thole wolues. Peter Johan with other of my frendes haue in lyke maner spoken vnto you of the damnable waies of these Antichristen vnthriftes of the couetousnes also & marchandyse that they wold make vpō you, yf ye take no hede. Notwithstādig al this helped not, nether cān ye excuse your selues by any maner of waye. For ye can not denye, but ye haue broken your othe and promise that ye made vnto me. As for my godly word my faithful doctrine, & fatherly councell: ye haue lightlye regarded it. My death also that I suffered for you so mekely vpon ỹ crosse ye haue vtterly despised and set at naught, and in a maner trode my bloude vnder your fete. For where as I onely shuld be your helper, health, mediatoure, sauioure, Phil. iii. Rom. xv. Petr. xx. ii. pet. ii. i. Johan. ii. and. iii. i. Pe. ii. Joh. xvi. Male. ii. Proue. i. i. Cor. i.

and obtainer of mercye for you: ye 1. Iohn. ii. haue thought scorne of me, and set my creatures in my roume, trusting in the vaine helpe of them, and in Roma. i. the merites of youre owne fained workes. The faith that I gaue you ye haue defyled, and myxte it with vaine opinions of youre owne imagination, and beside the articles of your Crede, ye haue made other mo (that my worde speaketh not of) ne cessarily to be beleued vnder paine of damnacion, ye and compelled my people to beleue them, with fyre, Math. xxii. sword, and other tormentes. And where as I am the lord your God, whiche ought onely to be worshipped, honored, & called vpō, ye haue Math. iiii. worshypped, honoured and called vpon other of my creatures, to the Roma. i. great blasphemynge of my name, & dishonorynge of my blyssed worde.
Roma. ii. As for the Sabboth daye, whiche I taught

I taught you to halowe and sanctifye vnto me, ye ceassed not to breake it, ye dysed, ye carded, ye swore and blasphemed, ye ranne by flockes to shede bloud, to here the lawes and preceptes of men, and to kepe their Ceremonyes, but as for my worde ye dyd not onelye despise to here it, but blasphemed it on the holy daye. And where as I haue taught the, it is lefull to do good on suche dayes and to helpe your neighbours necessitie, ye did teache the contrarye, and yet ye wolde not cease your selues to renne and go on vayne pilgrymages, to offer vnto stockes, & stones, and to leaue your owne bretheren vnhelped. I taught you to obey father and mother, kynge, lorde maister and dame, but ye haue turned your selues from the obedience of such, vnto them that I haue not commaunded you to obaye, I commaun-Exod. xx.

Psal. xiiii, Mat. xv.
Luce. vi. Mat. xii. Mat. iii.
Heere. iii.
Exo. xx, Ephe. vi.
Math. xv

Deut.xvi. maunded you not to kyll nor hate a ny man, no not to speake an euell Math.v. worde: not to breake wedlocke, to mat.xii. kepe no whores, to steale no mans good, to beare no false witnes, to co Gen.xx
Mat.v. uet no mans wife, house, saruaunte mayden, oxe, asse, or any thinge that Rom.xiii belongeth vnto hym, but to do to e-uery man as ye wolde be done vnto Mat.vii. your selues. Not withstandyng all these commaundementes, ye haue slayne, hated, persecuted and reuyled euen the innocēt and wel doers, ye haue mayntayned whoredom, ad uoutrye and fornicacion. Ye haue commaunded men not to marrye but rather to burne and to folowe all maner of vnclennes. Ye haue mainteyned theues & sturdy renna gates amonge you, whiche wyl not labour for their meat but vnder the Mat.xxiii pretence of longe prayers deuoure poore widowes houses. Ye haue spoken

spoken euyll blasphemed, and sclan dred men euen for my names sake & for doinge good, ye haue not onely coueted mennes wyues, and seruan tes, maidens, & other of their goo= des, but craftly entised thē to leaue their dewty vndone, & to folow your vayne & false religions, for ye haue made both wiues to leaue their hus bandes, & children to forsake theyr fathers, and so to refuse my com= maundementes because of youres as I saide vnto the Pharisees in my Gospel of Mathew. This done Mat.xv.
I was verye angrye and turned Deute.
myne eyes from you in so muche ȳ xxx.ii.
I suffered your enemies to inuade youre lande violently, to take you prisoners, to hang you, to pine you to hed you to burne you, and to mi= nister all cruelnes vnto you. And in conclusion w̄ false doctrines of mē to turne you away quite vnto ȳ Idole

Deu.iiii. Psal.xcv. Idole Bale of Rome, and to leue you for to offer vnto straũge gods. So that not one of you, which haue swore to be faythful vnto me, dyd ones thinke of me a right, or looke for any good at my hande: Suche perelous tymes were there, and no man cõsidered it by the space of ma ny hundreth yeres: In so moch that my verye electe were scarce vnde= ceaued. O my people thy synfull waies and wicked thoughtes, haue brought the to this miserye. And al these plages haue I sente vnto the because thou haste not harkened vn to my worde, but cast my law a side For I sent vnto you my seruaũtes, and ye wold not here them, ye haue receiued lyes, and wolde not repent Then I loked vpon you and be= holde, there was not one that hadde spoken any good, neither dydde I fynd any that wold turne from his euyl

Mat.xxi iii

Hiere.viii.

Hier.xxv.

Esaie.xvii. Leu.xvii. Hier.vii.

Hiere. viii.

euyl wayes, for ye had caste awaye my worde, and there was no wise-dome among you, Therfore I gaue you gall to drinke, & fed you with wormewod that is, I suffered you to be taught with mēs lawes. And because ye receiued not the loue of ỹ truthe that ye myght be saued, I sent you stronge delusions that ye myght beleue lyes, so ỹ my worde was kept awaye frō you for verye hunger, of the which ye ran from ỹ north to the southe, from the east to the weste, and founde it not, ye ran from Rome to sainte James, from saynte James to Hierusalem, from Hierusalem to the mount Sion, to the Peare tree, to the apple tree, to the plome tree, to the chery tre: yet coulde ye finde no meate for youre soule. Nether was there anye that purely preached vnto you my word by the whiche ye myghte haue re-myssy-

Hiere. ij.

ij. Tes. ij.

Amos. viij mission of youre synne, and learne the ryght waye to heauen. And thoughe I now in the tyme of your sorowe and persecution (yf ye crye vpon me sayenge: O lord stand vp & helpe vs) I might axe you, wher are now your goddes that ye made let them stande vp and delyuer you in the tyme of your trouble. And thoughe ÿ O my people: haste plai ed the harlote with many other, yet wyll I not be auenged of the.

Hiere.iii.

Hiere.iii.

Come onelye vnto me, turne the (I saye) and I shall receaue the, I wyll not with holde my countenãce and mercy from the, for I am holy and my wrath endureth not for e= uer. Onlye enclyne your eares and come to me here me, and your soule shall lyue, so wyll I make an euer= lastinge couenante with you: euen the bonde of mercye. For I do not forget my louynge promyse that I made Hiere.iii.

Leui.xi.
Psal.cii.
Psalm.i.
xxx.iii.

Esa.lv.

made by my seruaunt Ezechiel, but wyll deliuer my flocke out of their handes, and they shal fede them no more. And as I sayde by Hieremye I wyll turne me vnto you, & haue mercye vpon you, onelye here my voice, and herken vnto all that I haue commaunded you, so shall I take you for mine owne people, and I wyll be your god, & wil gyue you heardemen after my mynde, which shal fede you with my doctrine and wysedom. For I haue no pleasure in your deth & destructiō, but wold rather that ye shold turne and liue. Therfore leaue ỳ pyttes ỳ ye haue dygged vp for your selues, & come to me, I wyl geue you of the water of lyfe, whereof yf ye drinke, ye shall neuer be a thrust. Ye nede not be ashamed, nor afrayd, come on boldly vnto me for I am meke and lowly in harte. Seke me youre Lorde Ezec.xxxiii.

Ezec.xxxvi. Hiere.ii.

Joan.iiii.

Math.xi.

while ye maye fynde me, call vpon Esai.lv. me while, I am nyghe, leaue youre euel wayes and wicked thoughtes.
Thele warnynges and promyles with all, haue I yet in remẽbraũce and nowe I proclame them abrode and proffer them vnto you againe, that all ye which are thrustye maye Esai.lv. come to the water. And as for you that haue no monye, come soone, by of me and eate. Bye of me I saye without monye or exchaunge both wyne and mylke, that is: my mercy, my grace, and my rightuousnesse. I wyl geue you them freelye, ye nede Apocal. not recompence me againe, come on ly, and receaue them at my hande.
Wherfore dearly beloued, cast not vi. Cor. vi. away & dispise not such great grace and helth as is offered you: ẏ youre enemye the deuel with his heape of perdicion, be not caused to go forth for he goeth about lyke a rorig liõ seking

sekinge whom he may deuoure.
Wherfore vpon the othe ỳ ye haue 1.Pe.v. sworne to me, I warn, & charge you sayeng, there lieth so great weight in lesynge this castell of fayth, that after the syght or hearinge of these our letters, ye be redy to shew your selues as obedient, and louyng sub iectes. For I purpose shortely to driue awaye all myne enemies and with my stronge hande, and stret= ched out my arme to wyne this ca= stell againe oute of their hãdes for your health and prosperitie. where= fore gather you together, my deare beloued, and get you quickely vn= der my baner. For I wyl do wonde Judic. viii. rous thinges vpon myne enemies, and shewe mercy vnto my people.
I wyl deliuer you out of the hãdes of your enemies, so that ye shal say: ye verely our kinge hath deliuered vs frõ the power of all our aduersa ries. And they that se it shall say, be Psal. xx. holde they haue put their hope and trust in the, and arenot confounded, they haue called vpon the, and are sau ed. And manye troubles haue t hey had, but the Lorde hath dely= Psal. xxx, xxxiii. c, uered them from all. For the Lorde is nere vnto them that are troubled in harte. I wyll also fulfyll my pro= myse, and delyuer you my people out of their handes: ye your enemi= es shalbe conuerted vnto you, and not ye vnto thē, ye shalbe vnto your Hie, g v. enemies as a brasen wall, they shall fight against you, but they shal not be able to do any thinge, for I am with you to defende you in al thin= ges. Wherfore ye nede not be afrai ed nor fainte harted, but be of good comfort and bolde feare not, for I Exo. xiii, shall fight for you, as I dyd once agayne Pharao and other mo, that were enemies vnto my people of Israel,

Israel. And it shal happē vnto your enemies as it dyd vnto Amalech: that ye shal ouercome thē without yren, swerde, or any other bodely weapen, onely thorow your beleue and prayer to warde me, for lyke as Judas Machabeus with them that were with hym, when he had cālled for my helpe in his faithful prayer, went out againste his enemies and slewe .xxx. M. men thorow me my assistence. And lyke as the chyldren of Ruben and Gad ouercame a great nombre of the Agatenes, because they called vpon me in the batell & trusted faithfully in me: Euen so al so shall I helpe you, stand by you, and defende you, yf ye call vpon me with and vnfained faith and an vndouted hope. For myne eyes behold the earth, and gyue strengthe vnto them that are of an vnfayned harte and faithfully put their trust in me.

Exo. xv.

2. Mach. xv

1. Par. v.

Moreouer, my deare beloued, take no discorage for that ye are so fewe and your enemies so manye. For it is but a smal matter vnto me to giue a great nombre in the handes of a litle sorte. And it is al one thinge in my sighte, to giue the victory vnto many or to fewe, for it commethe not thorowe the multitude or greatnes of the hoolste, but from heauen
1. Mach. iii. do I giue both strength and victory, as I dyd sometime helpe my seruaunt Gedeon. That no man shuld Iud. vi. Rom. ix. say, he were delyuered thorow hys owne strengthe or myghte. For the power is onely in my hande, and no man is able to resist me. Moreouer this battel is mine, and not yours, therefore shall it not be you, that shal fight. Only be ye strōg in your mynde, & trust stedfestly vnto me, so ii. Par. ii. shal ye se my help vnto you. Take exāples out of ỹ scripture, i so much as as al are writtē for youre lerninge and comfort, of Moyses, Josue, Ge Rom.xv. deon, Josaphat. &c. when dydde I e uer forsake thē, doute not but euen thus wil I do for you also for I am Psal.xlv. onely he that may destroy & deliuer Psal.xviii.

I am your strength, your grounde your redemer & sauiour & withoute me cā ye do nothing. Therfore put Joh.xv. your stedfast cōfidēce in me & dout not but I wyl helpe you, so shall ye be sure of the victory. For els shall ye not be able to stande, nether shall there any syluer or golde, power or strēgth deliuer you, and for somoch as the tyme of this batel is at hand it is nedefull for you to arme your selues with the strongest weapons that maye be: that ye maye go forth manly againste youre enemies, and that ye be not takē, beaten, nor ouer come of them. For it is not a- Ephe.vi. gainst flesh and bloud that ye must wrestle wrestle, but againste power, and against worldly rulers of the darkenes of this world, against spiritual wyckednes in heauenly thinges.

Therfore against these enemies ye can do nothinge with mens wea-pens. But ye must haue the harnes and armoure that my faithfull captaine Paul hathe described in hys epistle to the Ephesians: namelye ꝙ Eph.vi. ye be strong in me, and to take vpō you the armour of god, that ye may stand stedfaste and be able to resiste the crafty assautes of the deuyl. For ye may not fight after a fleshly maner, therfore shall not your weapōs be fleshly nor carnall. Arme youre selues therfore with al maner of spi ritual weapons, & leaue nothing be hinde, that may further you to this batel, ꝙ whan ye fyght, ye may stād 1.Cor.iii. fast vpō a good groūd, that is vpō me your lord & sauiour Christ. For ye, ye ſe them that go to anye batell to fyghte with men, howe diligentlye they weaponed them ſelues on euery ſide, wyth breſt plate, ſhylde, helmet, ſwerde. &c. that no darte, arow nor ſtroke may hit them. Euen ſo muſt you alſo ſpiritually fyghte againſt ỹ deuil with inward weapõs fyrſt with the verite or truth, which is I my ſelfe or my worde, to gyrde the loynes of youre ſoules withall that ye maye ſtand vpryght and be as a ſure ſtrong wal againſt al mẽs doctrines and inuencions, leaſte ye be deceaued & ſhot ouer with ỹ ſame For this ſhalbe the firſt inuaſion of your enemyes, that they may renne ouer you and ouercome you with ỹ doctrines of men, with their lawes, cuſtomes and conſtitucions. But my deare beloued, that ye may ſtãd faſt in ſuch a brunt: put on the breſt plat of rightuouſnes, that no falſe Ephe. vi.

Joh. xviii.
Hier. xv.
Heb. xiii.

gloſe

Ephe.vi. glose, nor learning deceaue you or bringe you frō my word. Thē must ye be shode with shoes prepared by the gospel of peace, that is, ye must truste & bynde vp all your thoughtes, affectes & wylles with the gospel, lest ye be led by them to desyre any thing that is contrarye vnto the will of god and agreable to youre owne. Aboue all take to you ỹ sheld of faith, & beware that in nothinge ye dout of my promise. For w̄ this shelde onely, ye must beare of al the fyre & poisoned darte, that your wil-Psal.lvi. lynge enemye shal shote at you, lest ye be smitten or wounded withall.
For this is the shyld of my helpe, Psal.xxvi. and of my good wyll towarde you Take also vnto you the helmette of helth, or hope, lest in any poynte ye doute in your saluacion, but ỹ in all troubles ye maye pacientlye abyde ỹ time of my helpe. Thē (as a thing móost necessitie) take vnto you the swerde of the spirite, whiche is my word, wherwith ye may smyte and driue away al thē that striue agaīst you in this batel. Therefore myne erneſt charge and cōmaūdement is that euery one of you take this two edged sharpe swerde in his hande, that when nede requireth, he maye haue it redy hanginge bȳ his syde ye though he shulde sell his cote to bye it withall. It is not for naught that my worde is lykened vnto a swoorde, for it is quicke, and mighty in operacion, & sharper thē any two edged swoorde, and entreth thorow. Euen vnto the deuidinge a sonder of the soule, & the spirit, of ȳ iointes and the mary: & iudgeth the thoughtes, and the intentes of the harte. For this cause is my mouth or word likened vnto a sharpe swerde, wher with I wyll smyte all heythen and vnfaithfull Ephe. vi.

Hebr. iiii.

Esaie. xli.

vnfaithfull men that are agaynste my worde, and wyl gouerne them w̄ a septre of yron. With this swerde Psal, ii. whiche is my worde, ye shall kepe & defende your selues, and in this ye maye safelye put your truste. But if there come any vnto you, & shewe you another swerde to smyte youre enemies with al, if he bringe anye Iohan, i. other doctrine I meane then my worde, receaue him not into youre house, neither byd him god spede: haue nothig to do w̄ him, leste ye be partakers of his euel dedes. Holde hym for a lyer, yf he speake not my worde. For thorow this my worde, Gene. i. Psal. xxxii. were heauē & erth created. And thorow the spirite of my mouthe haue Psal, i. c, Apocal. xxii they al their strength and operatiō. wherfore take hede ỳe ye do not diminishe it, nor put any thinge to it, let it be sufficient vnto you to haue it, as I and my prophetes & Apostles haue 14

haue lefte it among you, ye may not do the thing that ye thinke for to be right, but that is right in my sight, and that my worde manifestely approueth. Ye must also be euer occupieng this sword, that ye maye be apt to fight with al, ye must diligētly serche the scripture I meane, and learne to know my wyl, that ye may be well exercised, and take no thinges in hande without my wyll and commaundement. Then wyl I not call you my seruauntes, but my dere frendes, my brethren, my mother, & my sisters. For this my worde shall be vnto you as a cloude in the daye tyme, and as a fire peloure in the nyght to shew you light in al your wayes, after the which as longe as ye walke, ye shal not come into darkenes. &c. This my purpose, deare beloued, thought I not to hide frō you, but to certifie you thereof for your

Deu. xii. Deute. vi

Iohan. xv

Mat. xii.

Ioh. viii.

your welth trusting that ye wyl cal to remembraunce what case ye stād in, & mekely to seke after me forhelp and socour. So wyll I haue mercy vpon you, and take you from amōg your enemies, those deceauers and false Prophetes, Ypocrites, Swarmes, and spirituall sectes, who so euer they be, Pharises, scribes, Heretikes, Popes, Cardinals, Byshops Archedeacōs, Deanes, Officials, Commessaries, Canōs, Prebendaries, Abbotes, Prouicials, Priours Monkes, Prestes, Freres, Nonnes & Sonners. And al this wyll I do with my onely worde which now I haue communded to be shewed and declared thorow out al the worlde. For I wyl shortly wede out al false iuglyng & ipocrisy, & euery plantig that my heauenlye father hath not planted wyll I plucke vp by the rotes. Therefore be earnestly warned

and

and thankfully receaue my grace ỹ now is offred vnto you, se that frute ful repentaũce be among you, with faithfull and true amendemente of your lyues. For shortely after that I haue let my worde be preached for a time, I wyll verelye come my selfe to make you (my dearely beloued) partakers of my ioye, & heires wt me in my kingdom, & to cast thẽ that wyl not abide with me, into euerlastinge damnacion. Now (my louinge subiectes) ye know my meaning, who so wil not order him selfe therafter is without excuse: our scripture giueth him warning inough Awake therefore with continuall prayer, and loke euer for my cõmig for ye know nether daye nor houre. Giuen at the right hand of my heuẽly father after my birth. In the yere of our lord. 1547. Jesu Christ the son of ỹ lyuing god, and sauioure of the whole worlde.

Mat.xxi.
Mar.i.
Mat.xxiiii
Joh.xvi.
Mare.xv
Math.xxi
Luke.xxi.

your welth trusting that ye wyl cal to remembraunce what case ye stād in, & mekely to seke after me forhelp and socour. So wyll I haue mercy vpon you, and take you from amōg your enemies, those deceauers and false Prophetes, Ypocrites, Swarmes, and spirituall sectes, who so euer they be, Pharises, scribes, Heretikes, Popes, Cardinals, Bysshops Archedeacōs, Deanes, Officials, Commessaries, Canōs, Prebendaries, Abbotes, Prouicials, Priours Monkes, Prestes, Freres, Nonnes & Sonners. And al this wyll I do with my onely worde which now I haue communded to be shewed and declared thorow out al the worlde. For I wyl shortly wede out al false iuglyng & ipocrisy, & euery plantig that my heauenlye father hath not planted wyll I plucke vp by the rotes. Therefore be earnestly warned

and

and thankfully receaue my grace ỹ now is offred vnto you, se that frute ful repentaũce be among you, with faithfull and true amendemente of your lyues. For shortely after that I haue iet my worde be preached for a time, I wyll verelye come my selfe to make you (my dearely beloued) partakers of my ioye, & heires wt me in my kingdom, & to cast thẽ that wyl not abide with me, into euerlastinge damnacion. Now (my louinge subiectes) ye know my meaning, who so wil not order him selfe therafter is without excuse: our scripture giueth him warning inough Awake therefore with continuall prayer, and loke euer for my cõmig for ye know nether daye nor houre. Giuen at the right hand of my heuẽly father after my birth. In the yere of our lord. 1.5.4.7. Jesu Christ the son of ỹ lyuing god, and sauioure of the whole worlde.

Mat. xii.
Mar. i.
Mat. xxiiii.
Joh. xvi.
Mare. xvi.
Math. xxv.
Luke. xxi.

¶ Imprinted at London by Ry-charde Kele, dwellynge at the longe shoppe in the Poultry vnder
saynt Mildze
des church.

BRITISH
11 OCT 86
MUSEUM